The Divorce Diary The Modern Business Woman's Survival Guide to Separation, Divorce and Running a Business Guide to Business Divorce The Bulldog Guide to Business Divorce Bulldog Guides The Bulldog Guide to Business Divorce is divided into three parts that follow the life cycle of business partnerships and business partners. The first section guides you in choosing your partners and forming your agreements to minimize chances of trouble later. Except for your spouse and family, your business partner will be the most important relationship in your life. This section explains the legal duties all partners owe each other; the agreements all partners should agree to at the very start: how to plan to reach your business goals; and the right way to pick your business partners. The second section describes the characteristics you should look for in choosing your partner, and the warning signs that your partnership might be in trouble. This section discusses problems to look for and how to handle them, including certain habits, traits and values of your partners that may change over time. This section ends with a discussion of Red Flags, signs of serious trouble on the horizon. The third section discusses the various pleasant and unpleasant ways that business partnerships end. This section discusses financing, preparing for sale or succession, and what to do if your partnership is headed for a business divorce. The Bulldog Guide to Business Partnerships is intended to be useful to business owners during the entire life cycle of the business. Yes, she got millions of dollars. But the lawyers also got millions of dollars. Sure, the husband paid both his and her legal fees, but every dollar that went to the attorneys and the accountants, appraisers, and other expert witnesses, was a dollar gone from the marital pot. What if, instead of the soap opera court litigated divorce, wife had communicated and negotiated with husband for a business partnership dissolution? 1.Both parties would have more money. 2.There would be less acrimony, less stain on everyone, including the kids. In order to successfully divorce with a business approach, you need: 1.An attitude adjustment from divorce to dissolution, from soap opera to business, from win-lose to win-win. 2.Business oriented attorneys and advisers. 3.A basic understanding of business, finance, and accounting. 4.Knowledge of both business and inter-personal communication techniques. 5.Contracts and agreements that pass muster business-wise in that they are clear, easily enforceable, and even-handed. That's what "Divorce with a Pen, Not a Sword" advocates and teaches- with practical advice, war stories, and step by step how-to's. However, before you can be successful in divorcing with a pen instead of a sword, energy must be considered. Look again at those high profile divorce cases. There are lots of subconscious programs at work controlling the behavior of both husband and wife. Otherwise, those divorces would have been a matter of course, easy, no acrimony. What causes them to escalate into such battles? The money you say. If it were only a matter of the money, there would be compromises. She wants $5,000,000 and the cocker spaniel; he wants to pay only $500,000, but will agree to pay $3,000,000 and allow doggie visitations. No. It's not the money. There are feelings of abandonment, anger, revenge, and getting even. The reactions to such feelings lead to hostility and litigation, escalations, and refusals to compromise so that the only solution is what a judge, an outsider, ultimately decides. "Divorce with a Pen, Not a Sword," deals with those subconscious programs- understanding and setting them aside, allowing a business approach to work for both parties. Leatrice discovered early on in her law practice of minding other people's business that she could intuit solutions for her Clients. She would just "know" the most helpful approaches and words to help her Clients. She began to focus on these feelings. She began to realize that she was feeling energy. Just as everyone feels better with some people than with others, better in some places than in others. People and places have an energy to them which can be felt. With good feeling energy comes intuition. With good feeling energy comes acceptance of Law of Attraction as promoted by such films as "The Secret" and "What the Bleep Do We Know?" With good feeling energy comes awareness of the Higher Force Energies inside everyone that inspire and empower. "Divorce with a Pen, Not a Sword" is based on the premise that there is a Higher Force Energy within every person that can be deliberately accessed: 1.To inspire the deliberate attraction of what is wanted, rather than just defaulting to what is not wanted. 2.To empower the breaking free of subconscious programs that dictate litigation instead of business, war instead of peace. Check out Leatrice's website, www.SeeMovement.com ("See"="Successful energy empowerment"). "Divorce with a Pen, Not a Sword" is a marriage of business principles and energy psychology. It promotes individual access to Higher Force Energies to enlighten and empower, to motivate and inspire, and to successfully end or re-define marriage in peace and harmony- by taking a business approach to divorce: Negotiation, partnership dissolution, communication, and peace, rather than litigation and war- a divorce with a pen, not a sword. Kurdistan Investment and Business Guide Volume 1 Strategic Information, Regulations, Contacts Lulu.com J.K.
