Mattina d'inverno con cadavere Il Saggiatore Mattina d'inverno con cadavere è l'opera con cui László Darvasi si presenta in Italia: una raccolta di racconti legati da fili invisibili eppure tenacissimi, in cui il realismo magico di Kafka e la melancolia di Krasznahorkai rinascono sotto l'infausta e sempiterna stella polare della putredine quotidiana. Darvasi fa sua la lezione dei maestri mitteleuropei e pone il lettore di fronte a un male che non ha forma né volto né contorno, a un orrore che non può essere separato dalla banalità di una giornata qualsiasi, a un ingranaggio di noia e odio dell'umanità verso se stessa che nessuno strumento può disinnescare. Un ragazzo uccide il fratellino spingendolo giù dal letto a castello. Un figlio vende il padre paralitico al mercato. Una signora uccide la donna delle pulizie perché porta lo stesso nome di sua madre. La donna delle pulizie di una chiesa la fa crollare sopra le teste dei compaesani riuniti per la messa. Una donna si impicca all'albero che il marito non ha voluto tagliare. Un uomo porta a spasso un cane impagliato che gli ricorda la moglie morta. Un uomo cerca per tutta la vita il suo colbacco; muore senza sapere che glielo nascondeva suo figlio. Nel cosmo di László Darvasi tutti sono inservibili, tutto è inutile, come un pomeriggio vuoto quando sei adolescente, hai la vita davanti e non sai proprio che fartene. Nel cosmo di László Darvasi ognuno è violento, vuole uccidere l'altro, e quanto più l'altro è simile a sé tanto più lo si vuole uccidere. Nel cosmo di László Darvasi si vede al massimo fino all'alba del giorno dopo, è superfluo elaborare progetti grandiosi. Di questo cosmo Darvasi ci guida alla scoperta, illuminando con luce cruda e radente l'indifferenza della volta celeste, la vacuità delle aspirazioni; dimostrando, con giudizio impietoso, inappellabile, eppure così semplicemente vero, che la vita umana non è altro che una faccenda di sopportazione e sopravvivenza. A Dictionary of English Homonyms Pronouncing and Explanatory Franklin Classics *This work has been selected by scholars as being culturally important and is part of the knowledge base of civilization as we know it. Con la speranza di un futuro migliore. Towards a Unified Italy Historical, Cultural, and Literary Perspectives on the Southern Question Springer Since unification in 1860, Italy has remained bitterly divided between the rich North and the underdeveloped South. This book examines the historical, literary, and cultural contexts that have informed and inflamed the debate on the Southern Question for over a century. It brings together analysis of cinema, literature, and newspaper archives to reconsider the myths and stereotypes that both Northerners and Southerners deploy in their narratives. Salvatore DiMaria offers a masterful assessment of the entangled issues that have produced the South's image as impoverished and backwards, such as organized crime, illiteracy, and mass emigration. Documenting the state's largely failed efforts to bring the South into its socio-economic fold, DiMaria also points to the future, arguing that the European Union and globalization are transformative forces that may finally produce a unified Italy. If on a Winter's Night a Traveller Random House 'Breathtakingly inventive' David Mitchell You go into a bookshop and buy If on a Winter's Night a Traveller by Italo Calvino. You try to track down the original book you were reading but end up with a different narrative again. This remarkable novel leads you through many different books including a detective adventure, a romance, a satire, an erotic story, a diary and a quest. But the real hero is you, the reader. This volume of bilingual essays from renowned European scholars outlines the transformation of Europe's boundaries from the fall of the ancient world to the age of decolonization, or the end of the explicit endeavor to "Europeanize" the world. From the decline of the Roman Empire to the polycentrism of today's world, the essays span such aspects as the confrontation of Christian Europe with Islam and the changing role of the Mediterranean from "mare nostrum" to a frontier between nations. Scandinavia, eastern Europe and the Atlantic are also analyzed as boundaries in the context of exploration, migratory movements, cultural exchanges, and war. The Boundaries of Europe, edited by Pietro Rossi, is the first installment in the ALLEA book series Discourses on Intellectual Europe, which seeks to explore the question of an intrinsic or quintessential European identity in light of the rising skepticism towards Europe as an integrated cultural and intellectual region. Verbal Periphrases in Romance Aspect, Actionality, and Grammaticalization Walter de Gruyter The series is a platform for contributions of all kinds to this rapidly developing field. General problems are studied from the perspective of individual languages, language families, language groups, or language samples. Conclusions are the result of a deepened study of empirical data. Special emphasis is given to little-known languages, whose analysis may shed new light on long-standing problems in general linguistics. "Pouring Jewish Water into Fascist Wine". The Kalasha are not only the last example of a pre-Islamic culture in the Hindu Kush and Karakorum mountains but also practice the last observable example anywhere in the world of an archaic Indo-European religion. In this book, Augusto S. Cacopardo takes readers inside the world of the Kalasha people. Cacopardo outlines the history and culture of this ancient but still extant people. Exploring an array of relevant literature, he enriches our understanding of their practices and beliefs through illuminating comparisons with both the Indian religious world and the religious folklore of Europe. Bringing together several disciplinary approaches and drawing on extensive ethnographic fieldwork, this book offers the first extended study of this little-known but fascinating Kalasha community. It will take its place as a standard international reference source on the anthropology, ethnography, and history of religions in Pakistan and Central South Asia. Al posto di Key Editore Tutto comincia, in questo e-book, con una specie di miracolo che succede dentro un convento, secondo il racconto tratto da un famoso film di L. Buñuel. Si passa poi ad altre vicende, in cui c'è sempre qualcuno/qualcosa che prende il posto di qualcun altro o di qualcos'altro: può trattarsi di un amministratore di un sostegno, del dott. Jekyll, di un sosia immaginario, di Norman Bates, del patrigno di Amleto, di don Chisciotte. O è magari un risarcimento del danno, una seconda moglie, un lavoratore subordinato, un giornalista che si dedica al culto dei morti. Un soffitto al quale appendere - per una bambina tormentata - dei sogni di fuga.

Mores Italiae 1575 Writing and Performing Female Identity in Italian Culture Springer This volume investigates the ways in which Italian women writers, filmmakers, and performers have represented female identity across genres from the immediate post-World War II period to the turn of the twenty-first century. Considering genres such as prose, poetry, drama, and film, these essays examine the vision of female agency and self-actualization arising from women artists' critique of female identity. This dual approach reveals unique interpretations of womanhood in Italy spanning more than fifty years, while also providing a deep investigation of the manipulation of canvases historically centered on the male subject. With its unique coupling of generic and thematic concerns, the volume contributes to the ever expanding female artistic legacy, and to our understanding of postwar Italian women's evolving relationship to the narration of history, gender roles, and these artists' use and revision of generic convention to communicate their vision.

Iqbal Simon and Schuster When young Iqbal is sold into slavery at a carpet factory, his arrival changes everything for the other overworked and abused children there. It is Iqbal who explains to them that despite their master's promises, he plans on keeping them as his slaves indefinitely. But it is also Iqbal who inspires the other children to look to a future free from toil...and is brave enough to show them how to get there. L'educazione Feltrinelli Editore Tara, la sorella e il fratello sono nati in una famiglia di mormoni anarco-survivalisti delle montagne dell'Idaho. Non sono stati registrati all'anagrafe, non sono mai andati a scuola, non hanno mai visto un dottore. Sono cresciuti senza libri, senza sapere cosa succede all'esterno o cosa sia successo in passato. Fin da piccolissimi hanno aiutato i genitori nei loro lavori: d'estate, stufare le erbe per la madre ostetrica e guaritrice; d'inverno, lavorare nella discarica del padre, per recuperare metalli. Fino a diciassette anni Tara non ha idea di cosa sia l'Olocausto o l'attacco alle Torri gemelle. Con la sua famiglia, si prepara alla prossima fine del mondo, accumulando lattine di pesche sciroppate e dormendo con il sacco d'emergenza sempre a portata di mano. Il clima in casa è spesso pesante. Il padre è un uomo dostoevskiano, carismatico quanto folle e incosciente, fino a diventare pericoloso. Il fratello è chiaramente disturbato e diventa violento con le sorelle. La madre cerca di aiutarla ma rimane fedele alle sue credenze e alla sottomissione femminile prescritta. Poi Tara fa una scoperta: l'educazione. La possibilità di emanciparsi, di vivere una vita diversa, di diventare una persona diversa. Una rivelazione. Il racconto di una lotta per l'auto-invenzione. Una storia di feroci lealtà familiari e del dispiacere che viene nel recidere i legami più stretti. Tara Westover dimostra una capacità di penetrazione che distingue i grandi scrittori. Ha creato una storia universale di formazione che mira al cuore di ciò che l'educazione ha da offrire: la prospettiva di vedere la propria vita con occhi nuovi e la volontà di cambiarla.

La naturalis Historia di Plinio nella tradizione medievale e umanistica Cacucci Editore S.a.s. Narratives Crossing Borders The Dynamics of Cultural Interaction Which is the identity of a traveler who is constantly on the move between cultures and languages? What happens with stories when they are transmitted from one place to another, when they are retold, remade, translated and re-translated? What happens with the scholars themselves, when they try to grapple with the kaleidoscopic diversity of human expression in a constantly changing world? These and related questions are explored in the chapters of this collection. Its overall topic, narratives that pass over national, language and ethnical borders includes studies about transcultural novels, poetry, drama, and the narratives of journalism. There is a broad geographic diversity, not only in the collection as a whole, but also in each of the single contributions. This in turn demands a multitude of theoretical and methodological approaches, which cover a spectrum of concepts from such different sources as post-colonial studies, linguistics, religion, aesthetics, art, and media studies, often going beyond the well-known Western frameworks. The works of authors like Miriam Toews, Yoko Tawada, Javier Moreno, Leila Abouela, Marguerite Duras, Kyoko Mori, Francesca Duranti, Donato Ndongo-Bidyogo, Ribi Hideo, and François Cheng are studied from a variety of perspectives. Other chapters deal with code-switching in West African novels, border crossing in the Japanese noh drama, translational anthologies of Italian literature, urban legends on the US-Mexico border, migration in German children's books, and war trauma in poetry. Most of the chapters are case studies of specific works and authors, and may thus be of interest, not only for specialists, but also for the general reader. In the Sea There Are Crocodiles Random House I read somewhere that the decision to emigrate comes from a need to breathe. The hope of a better life is stronger than any other feeling. My mother decided it was better to know I was in danger far from her; but on the way to a different future, than to know I was in danger near her; but stuck in the same old fear. At the age of ten, Enaiatollah Akbari was left alone to fend for himself. This is the heartbreaking, unforgettable story of his journey from Afghanistan to Italy in an attempt to find a safe place to live. The Notebook The love story to end all love stories Hachette UK Celebrating 25 years of The Notebook - the classic novel which became the heart-wrenching film. * Once again, just as I do every day, I begin to read the notebook aloud... Noah Calhoun has returned from war and, in an attempt to escape the ghosts of battle, he sets his mind and his body to restoring an old plantation home to its former beauty. But he is haunted by memories of the beautiful girl he met there years before. A girl who stole his heart at the funfair, whose parents didn't approve, a girl he wrote to every day for a year. When Allie Hamilton shows up on his doorstep, exactly as he has held her in his memory for all these years, Noah has one last chance to win her back. Only this time, it's not just her parents in the way - Allie is engaged and she's not a woman to go back on her promises. The Notebook is the love story to end all love stories - it will break your heart, heal it back up and break it all over again. Subsequent chapters address sustainable agriculture, conservation systems, and sustainable development. Lastly, the book proposes 10 major actions that could enable the transformation of Caatinga into a place where people and nature can thrive together. "I consider this book an excellent example of how scientists worldwide can mobilize their efforts to propose sound solutions for one of the biggest challenges of modern times, i.e., how to protect the world's natural ecosystems while improving human well-being. I am sure this book will inspire more research and conservation action in the region and perhaps encourage other groups of scientists to produce similar syntheses about their regions." Le immagini di un mondo apparentemente immobile e arcaico si alternano alle vicende di una realtà storica complessa e tormentata, nel cui magma vecchio e nuovo si scontrano e si fondono. This collection of poems and anonymous folktales in the Molisan dialect traces the unfolding of two stories which, although distinct, interweave and complete each other: the author's individual story and the story of a town in the South of Italy. The images of an apparently immobile and archaic world alternate with the events of a complex and tormented historical reality, in whose magma the new and the old clash and fuse." Picturing Women in Renaissance and Baroque Italy Cambridge University Press This volume considers pictured and picturing women in Renaissance and Baroque Italy as the subjects, creators, patrons, and viewers of art. Women's experiences and needs (perceived by women themselves or defined by men on their behalf) are seen as important determinants in the production and consumption of visual culture. By using a variety of approaches the contributors demonstrate the importance of adopting an interdisciplinary approach when studying women in Italy from the fourteenth to the seventeenth centuries. Survival In Auschwitz Simon and Schuster The author describes his twenty month ordeal in the Nazi death camp. Il vento è mia madre. Vita e insegnamenti di uno sciamano pellerossa The Common Sense of Teaching Foreign Languages Gattegno wrote this book as a scientist interested in learning processes, as a student interested in the mastery of foreign languages, and as a teacher interested in providing his students with ideal learning conditions. These perspectives combined with years of research, travel, and fieldwork create a full insight into the problem of learning a foreign language. He argues that learning a language should not be about recitation and memorization, but about the natural learning processes we have used since birth. "In fact," he writes, "We can no more say that we remember our language than that we remember how to stand up or walk." Remote Vision (poetry 1999-2015) Remote Vision contains an English-Italian bilingual version of the most significant works in poetry and conceptual writing produced so far by Alessandro De Francesco. It is both a self-standing, coherent book and the most exhaustive collection of his poetry ever published in any language; containing a new version of the 2008 book Objects Displaced, the complete 2010 book Redefinition, the composite and still partially unpublished Cistern, the prose Foreign Body in Ascending Motion and the very recent work Inhabited Spaces. All the sections were rearranged for this publication by the author who decided that each section contain the complete English text followed by the complete Italian version, avoiding a face to face translation in order not to interrupt the flow of the reading. The whole book was beautifully translated by poets and Brown University alumni Belle Cushing and Dusty Neu, under the coordination of the acclaimed poet and Comparative Literature scholar Forrest Gander. This book condenses and proposes under a new light all the conceptual and emotional intensity of Alessandro De Francesco's poetry.
